Carrizales Norte Field

Carrizales Norte: Horizontal Well Program

- The first horizontal well was spud on May 14th, 2024. A 622 m horizontal section was drilled within the Main Ubaque reservoir. The well was brought on production on June 15, 2024 and initial production was over 3,000 bbl/d gross (1,500 net) oil
- Five additional horizontal wells have been put on production, all with similar production rates
- The Ubaque reservoir encountered at Carrizales Norte is material: up to 80 feet of stacked shoreface sands with 26-30% porosity and 7-10 Darcies permeability
- Low viscosity 13.4° crude and strong water drive allows for recovery factors of 30-35%
- Proven completion technology is being utilized to manage water production, extending the economic life of each well

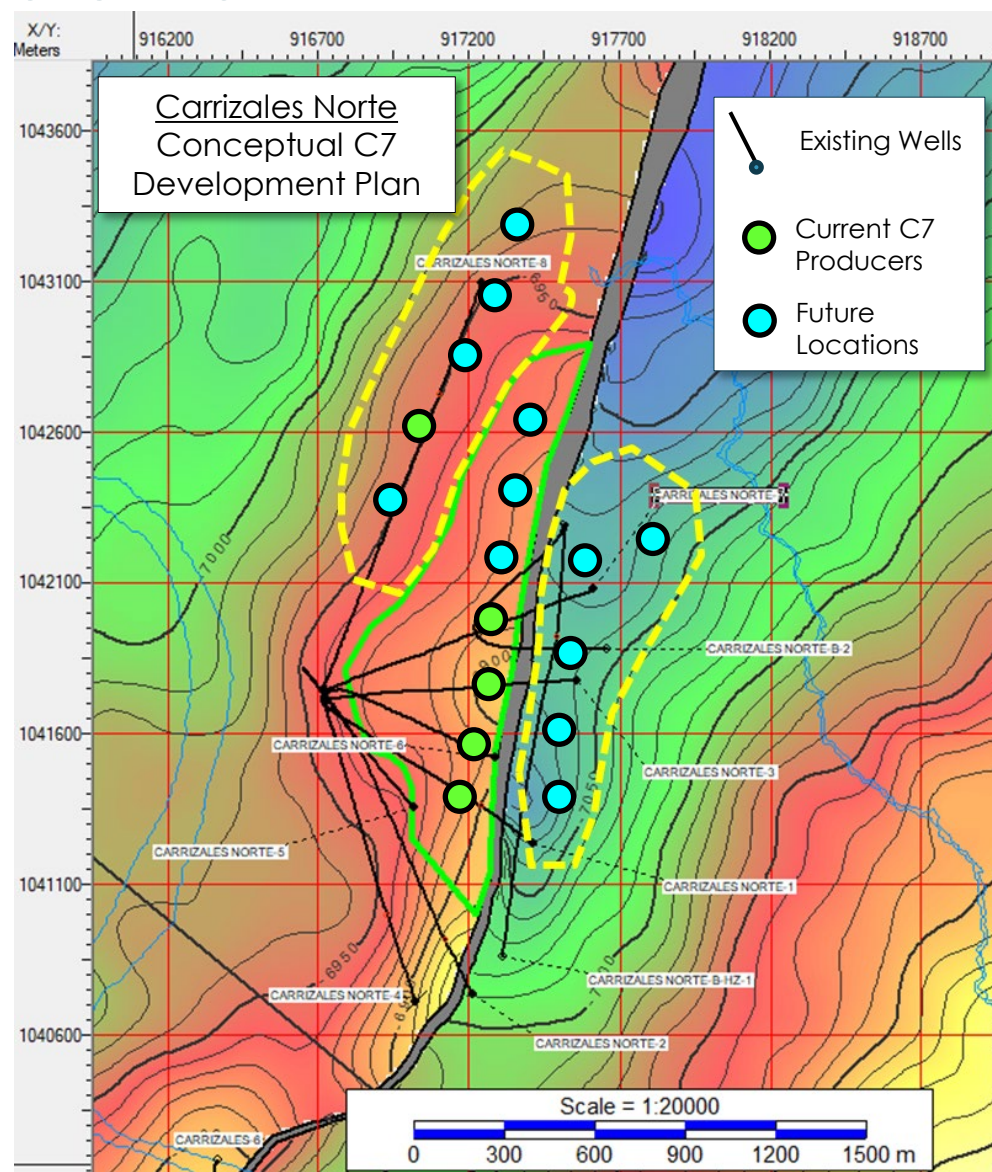

Carrizales Norte field: trap geometry

- Seismic sections show thickening of the Ubaque section towards North
- The exact pinch-out edge is beyond the seismic resolution/tuning thickness

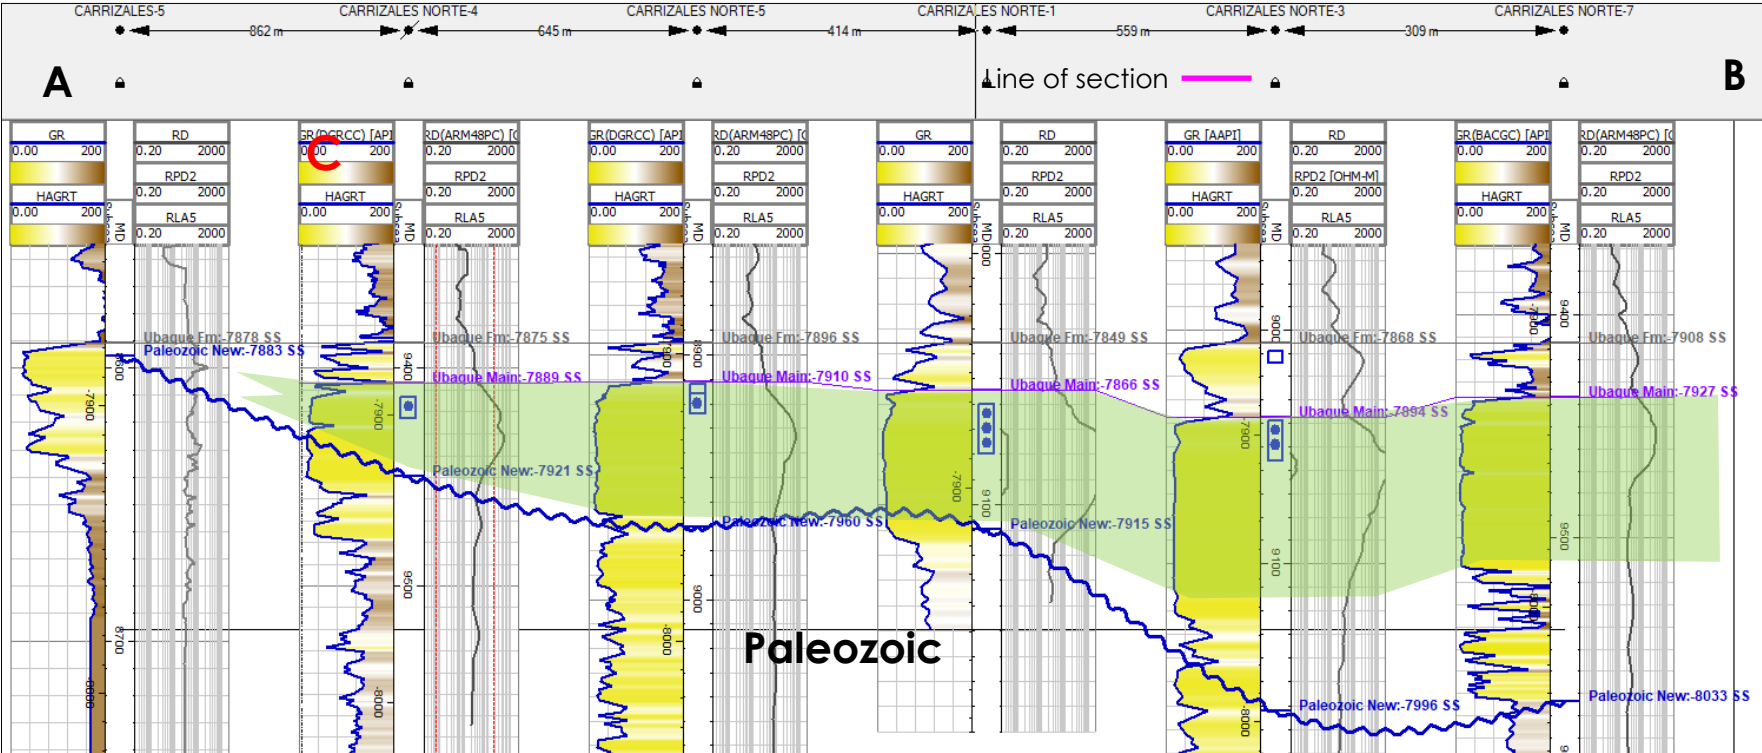

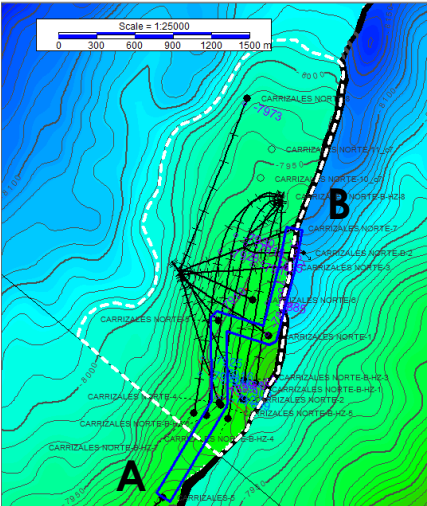

Carrizales Norte: C7 Potential

- Reservoirs consist of channelized sand bodies with excellent characteristics – porosity of 28 – 34% and multi-Darcy permeabilities
- Light oil (>30° API) and strong water drive allow for very high initial production rates and quick economic payback (~60 days/well)
- Superior reservoir characteristics and prudent reservoir management results in significantly lower decline rates and higher EUR relative to other C7 wells in the basin
- Recent drilling has revealed two additional C7 pools, both likely to be stratigraphic traps. Confirmation of the extent of these pools will add significant drilling opportunities

-  Carbonera C7 Pool Outline

PRODUCTION PERFORMANCE - RCE

RCE - WELL PERFORMANCE

Mateguafa Attic Prospect

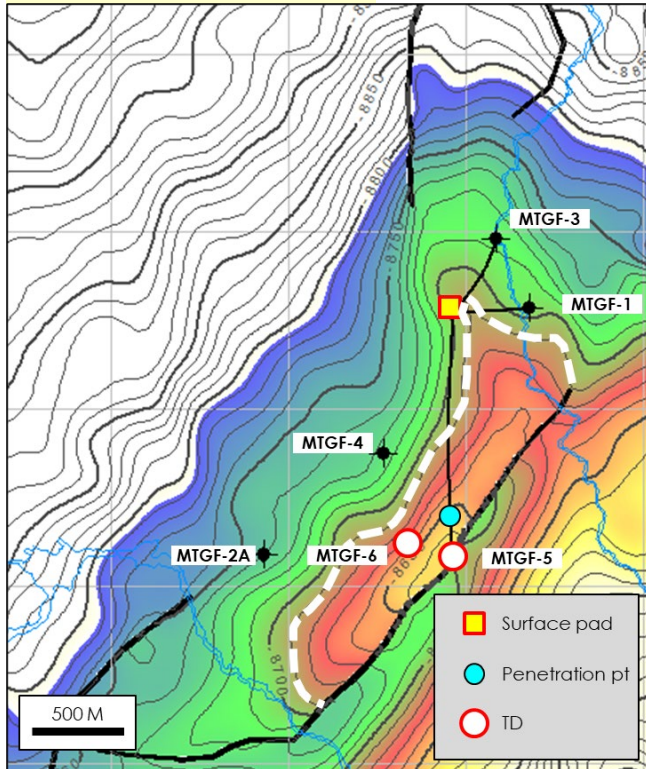

- Mateguafa field discovered in 1998. Four wells were drilled, two produced oil from Carbonera C7 sands (total 630k barrels)
- Original wells drilled on poor quality 2D seismic grid. Recently acquired 3D data shows a different fault configuration and a large area of closure updip from existing wells

Mateguafa Attic prospect (Gacheta & Ubaque potential)

Ubaque Depth structure

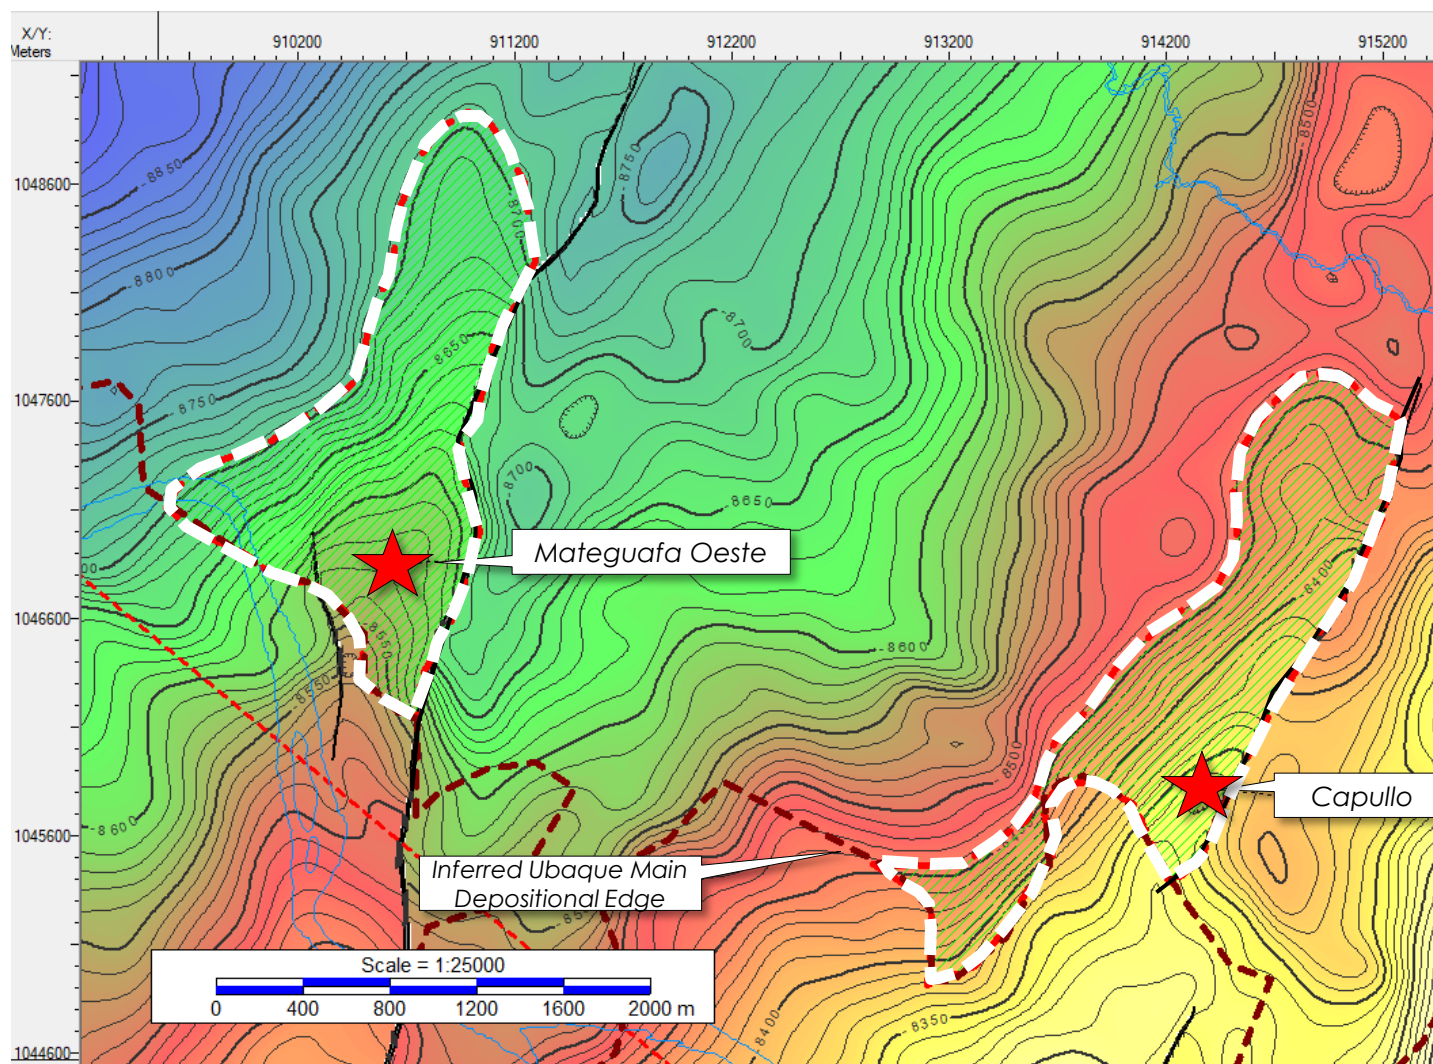

Gacheta Depth structure

- Robust structural closure observed at both Ubaque and Gacheta levels.
- Isochron between top and bottom Ubaque picks suggest thick Ubaque section all across the structure (confirmed by results at Mateguafa-1)
- Mateguafa-1 is the only well that penetrated Gacheta/Ubaque. However, mapping from 3D seismic suggests that the well was drilled downdip of lowest closing contour

Mateguafa Oeste & Capullo Prospects

- Large prospects enhanced by fault trends
- Truncation of Ubaque Main sands against depositional edge
- Look-alikes to Carrizales Norte Ubaque discovery
- Land acquisition complete, with environmental studies to follow

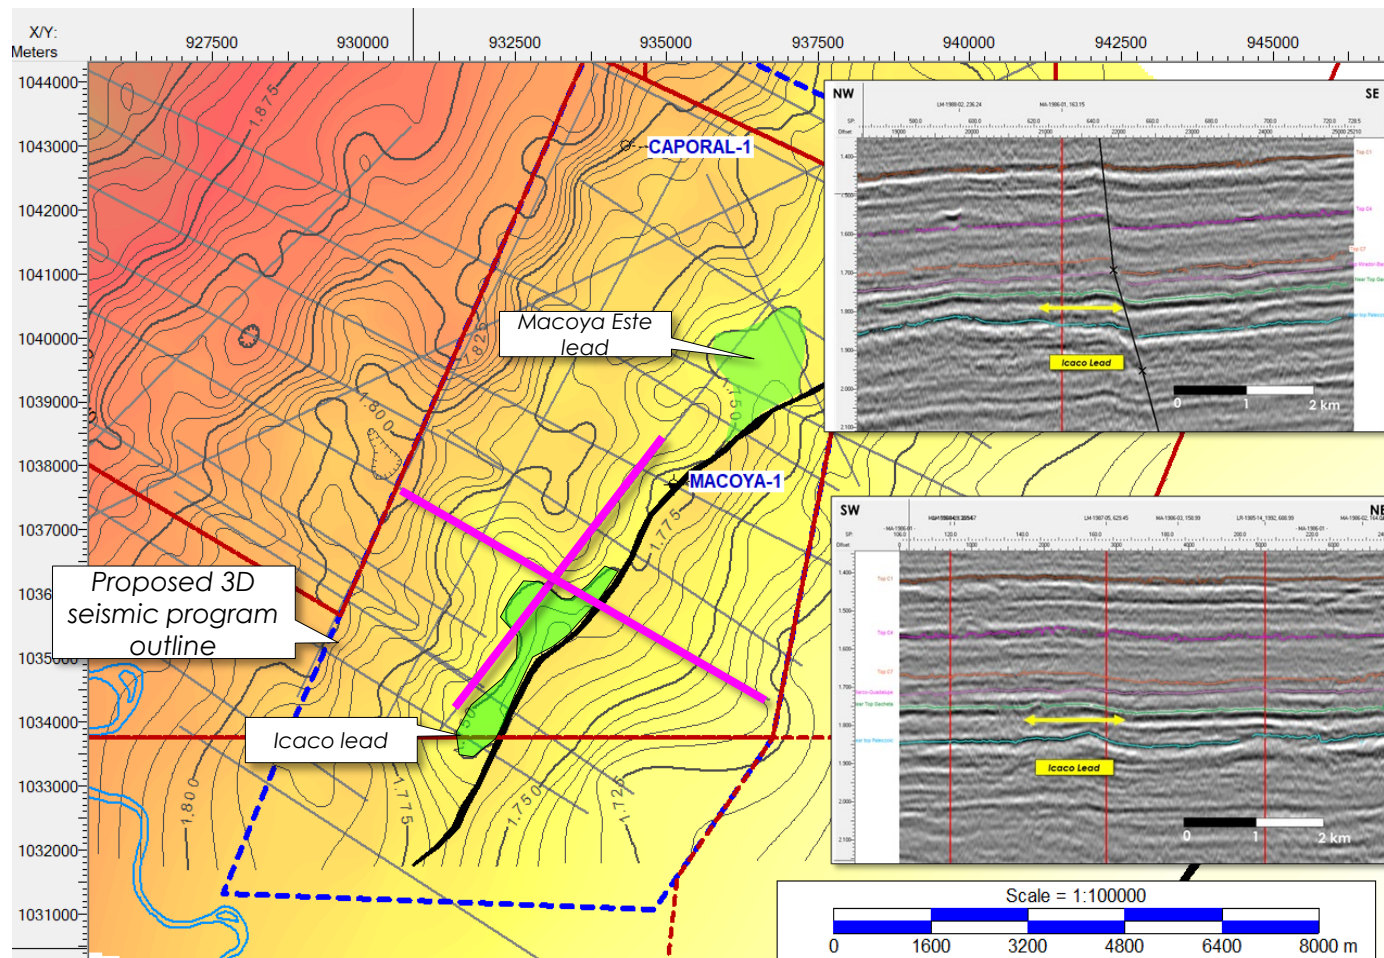

Regional Seismic Profile

South Tapir Leads

- Southern area of the Tapir block remains very under-explored
- Two wells were drilled in early 1990's on 2D seismic. One of these, Macoya-1, had oil shows despite being located outside of any structural closure
- Two large structural leads have been identified but 3D seismic will be required to mature these to drillable prospects
- Seismic environmental baseline study (MMA) and 3D design were completed in 2023
